SIMPLE HARMONIC MOTION (POETRY)

N. Karthika, I B.Sc Physics

Kamaraj College (SF)

Rapid oscillations between dusk and dawn bring elation and pain.

My detached amplitude tucks away desires and unearths fear.

Your varied frequency awakens longing and eases distractions.

Time, an unforgiving spectator pushes you forward as I pull back.

We cannot help it, trapped in a sinusoidal wave, repeating our dance, for we have nowhere to go.

POOR Vs DISHONEST – Part 1 (Moral)

R. Hari Vignesh I B. Com.

Kamaraj College (SF)

In The Kingdom of Andhra Pradesh, there lived a king Raja Krishna Devarayar. He had many ministers. But Tenali Raman was his favourite minister. In fact, his best friend. One day a minister said to king that poor people are greedy. But Tenali Raman said that the poor people are honest and the rich are greedier. This made a huge argument between ministers. But King Krishna Devarayar asked Tenali Raman to stop the argument. Tenali said he can prove his point by testing the rich and the poor in their kingdom.

King Krishna devarayar approved it. Tenali gave two bags full of gold coins to guards and asked them to keep the bags in two paths. In the morning a guard kept the bag on the way of a rich man. The rich man while walking saw the bag and felt it was God's gift to him and he went with the money. Another guard kept the bag in the way of a poor, the poor man saw the bag full of money and he was shocked, he felt someone has lost the money. So he immediately went to King's palace.

The King called the poor man and asked about his problem. The poor man said I was walking. On my way, I saw a bag full of gold coins. So I took it and came here to give it. The King asked the poor man why he had not taken the coins himself. The poor man replied may be this gold coins belong to poor farmers. It's not mine, so I cannot take it. King was shocked and impressed with his behavior and called the rich man to come to the palace. Guards brought the rich man.

King asked, "where did you get the money?"

Rich man said, I pray to God daily to give me more money, while walking I saw this bag on my way and I thought it was a gift of God, So I took it myself. The king asked the poor man to have the gold coins. Poor man went with gold coins happily. But King asked the rich man to return the money to guards and warned him not to do this again. The rich man went from palace. Now Tenali asked the King, "Is my point correct?" The King said, "yes", the poor are very honest. Other ministers felt ashamed. Thus Tenali proved his point that poor people are honest and noble.
